THE EDIT GALLERY is delighted to present Alejandra Atarés' first solo exhibition in Cyprus, titled 'Possible Answers to Nature'.

Alejandra Atarés is a visual artist from Spain. By combining elements that are both real and envisioned, Atarés intends to capture the beauty and complexity of the natural world and creates liminal places that can only be visited through her immersive depictions. Strikingly cinematic, Atarés' works are vividly rendered in a prismatic palette of sharply contrasted and highly saturated hues.

In her exhibition 'Possible Answers to Nature' Atarés continues her exploration on nature and takes it one step further by combining the traditional and contemporary, and presenting, for the first-time, small-scale artworks depicting flower vases alongside her large-scale landscape designs. In this way, Atarés perfectly captures a diverse range of artworks where each piece highlights the amazing complexity and the awe-inspiring beauty of nature. On the one hand, the artist portrays flower vases, that although contained and simple still remind us of the beauty of the world around us, and on the other hand she highlights the majestic and powerful beauty as well as the boldness of the abundant, untamed nature.

While art cannot provide definitive answers to our questions, it can certainly help us explore our thoughts and feelings in new and meaningful ways. Through the 'Possible Answers to Nature' exhibition the artist invites the viewer to engage with the beauty and complexity of the natural world and reflect on his own relationship with nature. Ultimately leading to a deeply rewarding and enriching experience and a greater connection to the world around us.
